

No Shame Theatre Returns to Portland!

Are looking for that special place to show off your new monologue, short play, circus act, or modern dance? No Shame Theater is your place. This nationwide, grassroots performance experience has just made a new home in Portland. We are seeking writers and performers of all genres, ages, abilities, and experience levels. If you don't perform, come and see one of the most refreshing new theatre experiences Portland has to offer!

¥Your piece must be original (but does not have to be created by you) and five minutes or shorter in length.
¥Don't break any laws, props, or body parts.

Everything legal is welcome: productions with costumes and props, staged readings with script in hand, experiments, improvisational musings. You can rehearse before, or you can just show up and jam.

¥Everyone pays the $5 entry fee.

Every second and fourth Friday.
Sign up 10pm, show 10:30pm.

At The Brooklyn Bay - 1825 SE Franklin Street, Bay K (overlooking Powell - it is a little tricky to get to, so check www.brooklynbay.org)
